Unbelievable, that is my response to this so-called settlement, just another example of, throw enough money to the government and they will come around to your way of thinking.

I would like to know where is the punishment for past wrong-doing by Microsoft, they have over 20 billion dollars in their coffers, how could you possibly punish them with a fine. As for Microsoft giving software to schools, boy there is a self-serving action.

Unfortunately, "might doesn't make right in this case, money does".

Thank you for your time,

Don Kidd

P.S. DOJ if you are going to get in bed with Microsoft, at least turn out the lights, your embarrassing yourselves.
